

Vacatia Begins International Expansion, Adds Cancun and Cabo

Resort residences offer the space of a home plus the services of a hotel

San Francisco (May 19, 2016) - Vacatia, the resort marketplace for vacationing families, announced today that it is now offering real-time rental listings, instant booking, and Guest Care in support of twenty resorts across Cancun and Cabo San Lucas, Mexico. These additions include the first “all-inclusive” resorts curated by Vacatia.

Since the public launch of its resort rental marketplace six months ago, Vacatia continues to expand and now serves 14 premier leisure destinations, including Maui, Kauai, Oahu, Big Island, Orlando, Pensacola, Panama City, Destin, Daytona Beach, Myrtle Beach, Branson, and Phoenix/Scottsdale.

“Family travel is exploding and we built Vacatia with the belief that resort residences are simply the best accommodation for vacationing families, offering both the space of a home and services of a hotel,” said Caroline Shin, CEO and co-founder of Vacatia. “We are happy to continually make more instantly bookable choices available to our guests, whom we endeavor to treat ‘like family’.”

Vacatia now offers 300+ carefully selected professionally managed resort-condominium complexes for rental. Originally, access to these resorts was available exclusively only through real estate options such as whole, fractional, or timeshare ownership. Resorts and owners offering their resort residences as vacation rentals have been limited to primarily marketing their resort residences via brokers, ad listing sites, or travel/hotel sites, prior to the launch of Vacatia.

Vacatia Guest Care is available online or over the phone, answering questions guests may have about resorts, residences, amenities, or nearby activities. Vacatia Guest Care also handles large group and special requests, as well as confirming accommodation details with the resorts.

About Vacatia
